

The Blondie Tribute

The only tribute to Blondie with six band members on stage

Parallel Blondes deliver the razor sharp guitar riffs and iconic vocals that gave Blondie their authentic sound.

With a Debbie Harry look alike and sound alike (hauntingly reminiscent of early Harry), Parallel Blondes are the Blondie Band to watch!

Nick Marshall (aka - Chris Wine), a former Royal Academy Of Music student, with over 25 years gigging experience (including successful tribute acts as the bassist in Viva Santana and the Rollin Stoned) is the founder and musical director of Parallel Blondes, the Blondie band: “When we first formed, right from the start, I wanted us to have an authentic sound and vibe. When we played, I wanted people to dance, have fun and to leave wanting more and this is exactly what Parallel Blondes delivers.”
