From the tender age of 5, Goda Kukucione embarked on a musical journey that has since evolved into a rich and diverse career, marked by passion, talent, and a relentless pursuit of her artistic ambitions. Goda's formal music education began in Lithuania, where she obtained her first degree in classical music. Fueled by a desire to write and create her music, she made a pivotal decision to move to London, where at the British and Irish Modern Music Institute, she honed her skills and graduated in 2021. So far in her solo career, now known officially as GODA, her debut tracks 'Who Am I' and 'Tik Dviese' have garnered attention from Lithuanian press and found a place on radio playlists. In the past, she was an active participant in various music TV shows including The Voice, and despite having an ambition to one day participate in Eurovision, this aspect lies separately to her focus in creating her own story as a songwriter. In the UK, her performance skills have led her to grace venues such as the O2 Academy Islington, Under the Bridge, The Bedford, and the extensive music festival circuit, with performances in London, Bristol, Brighton, and several other vibrant locations. GODA's journey is an unfolding story of growth, resilience, and a commitment to authentic self-expression.
